To Whom It May Concern:

First, I would like to thank Mr. Mandell and his associate, attorney Mr. Bill Conway, in giving the District of Columbia Society of Anesthesiologists a wonderful lecture on July 23, 2009, at 6:30 p.m. Our society was incredibly grateful with respect to the insight and time that you spent discussing business matters. You not only addressed the personal needs of an anesthesiologist concerning malpractice and investment strategies, you also spent the time to discuss more personal matters and how we, as physicians, can pass the product of our hard work to our family. I would kindly recommend you and your group to give these particular lectures to other medical societies. Again, thank you for the time in coming to the District of Columbia Society of Anesthesiologists.

Best regards,

John F. Dombrowski, MD
